

Resurs Bank invests in the Nordic region's first cloud-based banking platform that meets the needs of tomorrow's customers

Resurs Bank is investing in a new, entirely cloud-based banking platform that creates the prerequisites to provide customers and partners with state-of-the-art services, interfaces and products. The global fintech company Intellect Design Arena will be supplying the new platform. Resurs's investment in this IT transformation amounts to about SEK 500 million, part of which consists of Intellect's cloud-based solution.

Intellect Design Arena, one of the world's leading suppliers of financial platforms, will become a supplier to Resurs. By investing in a new, entirely cloud-based platform, Resurs will be able to meet the growing demand from customers and partners for user-friendly and scalable solutions and services in an entirely new way.

Intelligent technology and an API-driven cloud-based system will create the preconditions for customers and partners to be able to access personally adapted self-service applications in real time, providing Resurs with the opportunity to further optimise its processes and create even more efficient and scalable operations.

"The demands and expectations from customers and partners for user-friendly and customer-adapted services and products are high. The new platform will provide us with strength and the opportunity to accelerate our processes for innovation, product development and go-to-market, aspects that we see that customers and partners of today and tomorrow both request and demand. By applying modern technology and through close collaboration with Intellect, we can more rapidly meet the Nordic market's consumers and retailers with payment and financing solutions that are at the forefront of the industry, with the ultimate goal of providing a fantastic customer experience in real time, for example, in subscription solutions and other circular financing solutions that we see are becoming all the more important," says Nils Carlsson, CEO of Resurs Bank.

Resurs is thus strengthening its position as an innovative company in payment and financing solutions in the Nordic market. The development work of integrating the cloud-based banking platform is set to begin now and is planned to be completed in the next three to four years. The goal is to gradually launch parts of the new banking platform in operations. The investment will be capitalised in the balance sheet, which is why only a limited impact on earnings is expected during the implementation phase. When implementation is complete, the investment is expected to generate positive net effects. In terms of cash flow, the investment is being made on a current basis.

"Since the beginning of the transformation journey last autumn, intense work has been ongoing to evaluate different potential suppliers for a new core banking system and to ensure that the project has the right prerequisites and organisation prior to the implementation phase. It is now time to deliver
